
A¹ 6. The computer program as set forth in claim 1, wherein the client component is further adapted for providing the information concerning the involvement of the individual in the event to a separate application.

A² 13. The computer program as set forth in claim 8, wherein the computer program is further adapted for providing the information concerning the involvement of the individual in the event to a separate application.

A³ 20. The computer program as set forth in claim 15, wherein the client component is further adapted for providing the information concerning the involvement of the individual in the event to a separate application.
